ASEAN - HARMONIZATION

- a process that recognizes diversity of higher education systems, cultures and traditions within the region while promoting common practices and guidelines.
- a major challenge to ASEAN members.
- a response to major reforms in education and training across the region.

REGIONALIZATION

A process of building closer collaboration and alignment among higher education among education actors and systems in a designated area or framework, commonly called a region. Regionalization is seen as a complementary process to internationalization.

Knicht, J. (2012) "A Conceptual Framework for the Regionalization of Higher Education in Asia" in K.H. Mok and D. Neubauer (eds) Higher Education Regionalization in Asia Pacific

The Way Forward

- A continuing journey of collaboration and cooperation
- Working towards common agreements and consensus on the four sets of Principles
- Alignment and convergence of HE systems
- Building trust and confidence among EQA bodies
- Mutual recognition of accrediting decisions
- Endorsement from the ASEAN Ministers of Education

ASEAN-QA Project

A joint initiative aimed at strengthening the capacity for internal and external QA through dialogue and training events (2011-2013)
